

An Update on the BC Ferries Langdale Terminal Redevelopment Plan

Hello Sunshine Coast Residents,

This is the third in a series of monthly columns to keep you informed about BC Ferries’ Langdale Terminal Redevelopment project and how it is moving forward. I want to ensure you have the most up-to-date information on what is happening with the terminal.

I’d like to provide you with an overview of the community engagement BC Ferries previously completed, because it forms a base for many of the things we are doing as part of the terminal redevelopment. I’d also like to share some information on what we are planning for the upcoming months. The table below provides details of our prior engagement activities.

We will complete our upcoming community and stakeholder engagement in two phases, with the first phase starting this fall and focusing on informing participants about the process, and giving them an opportunity to provide input on how to improve the terminal. Please see the table below for details.

During the second phase, planned for early 2018, we will report back on where and how we used the input, and if the input was not incorporated, we’ll explain why. There will also be another opportunity for input during Phase 2.

Please continue watching for my monthly updates in the local papers. I hope these updates help you keep informed about the progress of the terminal redevelopment. If you have any questions about the process, please don’t hesitate to contact me directly at michael.pearson@bcferries.com.
